1. Purpose of this Disclaimer

This Document Download Disclaimer applies to all documents, files, publications, PDFs, forms, notices, statements, reports, policies, presentations, templates, images and other materials made available for viewing or download through the CDE website or related digital channels.

2. Informational Purpose Only

Documents published by CDE are provided for informational, administrative, organisational, educational or public communication purposes. Accessing, downloading, reading or storing a document does not create any legal, professional, advisory, contractual, diplomatic, governmental, employment, membership or partnership relationship with CDE unless expressly confirmed in a separate written agreement or official CDE decision.

3. No Official State or Governmental Status

Where CDE documents use diplomatic, protocol, representation, mission, delegation, accreditation, identification or similar terminology, such terminology must be understood only in the internal, organisational or cooperation context of CDE activities.

Downloading a CDE document does not grant diplomatic status, privileges, immunities, governmental authority, state representation, consular authority, public authority, travel rights, identification rights, official accreditation, or any authority recognised by public authorities unless expressly granted by competent authorities under applicable law.

4. Version Control and Updates

Documents may be updated, corrected, amended, replaced, archived or withdrawn without prior notice. Users should verify that they are using the latest version available on the CDE website. Printed or locally stored copies may become outdated.

5. No Reliance Without Verification

Users are responsible for independently evaluating the relevance, authenticity, accuracy and suitability of any document. Where a document may have legal, administrative, organisational or operational consequences, users should obtain confirmation from CDE or from competent professional advisers before relying on it.

6. Copyright and Integrity of Documents

Downloaded documents remain protected by copyright and other intellectual property rights. Users may not modify, rebrand, remove notices, alter signatures or seals, create derivative versions, redistribute documents commercially, or use documents in a misleading or unlawful manner without prior written permission from CDE.

7. External Documents and Third-Party Materials

Some documents may refer to third-party materials, laws, institutions, partners or external websites. Such references do not imply endorsement, responsibility, partnership or control unless expressly stated. Third-party documents and materials remain subject to their own terms and legal notices.

8. Security of Downloads

CDE takes reasonable care when publishing documents but cannot guarantee that every download environment, device, browser, network or third-party platform is secure. Users are responsible for using appropriate security measures when downloading and opening files.
